PRESIDENT IN A FIGHTING MESSAGE

Challenges Foes of Administration
Ship Subsidy Bill to Assume Responsibility for Defeat

MEET ISSUE FAIRLY, HE SAYS

Would do Away With Government
—Discouraging Enterprise
—Discouraging Enterprise

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 21.—In a fighting message President Harding today challenged the foes of the administration ship subsidy bill to assume the responsibility for defeating it.

Declaring that no proposition placed before congress ever met "a more resolute hostility", the president in a message delivered in person to the extraordinary session of congress challenged his opponents to meet the issue fairly.

The president devoted practically all of his message to a vigorous message on the subsidy, mentioning only one other question, immediate relief for agriculture. This and other questions will be dealt with in his message to the regular session of congress.

"This question can no longer be ignored" said Harding. "Its solution can no longer be postponed. The failure of congress to act decisively will be no less of a disaster than adverse action."

Carrying the fight with aggressiveness to the enemy's camp, Harding said he challenged every insinuation of favored interests and enrichment of special few at the expense of the public treasury. I am first of all appealing to save the treasury, he said. Throughout his speech the president urged that the subsidy would save money to the treasury because of the large losses still being piled up by the shipping board. These were estimated at fifty million dollars a year while the president said the cost of the subsidy would be half that amount.

The executive made a fervent plea that America again be raised to a position of eminence.

Striking directly at the opposition to the measure, the president said one of two courses is open to congress:

The first is constructive—enact the pending bill under which I firmly believe an American merchant marine privately owned and privately operated but serving all the people and always available to the government in an emergency may be established and maintained, he said.

The second is obstructive, continuing government operation and attending government losses and discouraging private enterprises.

John Wilson Is Found Not Guilty Of Unlawfully Giving Away Intoxicating Liquor

WILLIAM CHANDLER ACCUSER

John Wilson of Richland was acquitted this afternoon by a jury in the circuit court after a brief trial, in which he was accused with unlawfully giving away liquor.

Only a few witnesses were examined including William Chandler, also of Richland, who was the prosecuting witness, and who testified that the defendant gave him some liquor last July, which caused him to become intoxicated.

Most of the time at the trial was spent in obtaining a jury as 25 talesmen were examined before a jury was sworn, and at the conclusion of the case only 20 minutes was allotted for argument by each side.

The jurors who heard the case were Fenton O. Browning, Joe Scott, Henry McFarridge, R. S. Davis, Will Morris, James Wynn, Charles Foster, O. C. Leisure, G. P. Hunt, Charles Roach, James Alexander and W. O. Frazee.

TALK OF BUSINESS METHODS

Subject For Discussion At Meeting
Of Rotary Club Today

The Rotary club carried out the program recommended by the better business methods committee of International Rotary, at the noon lunch today. The committee propounded a series of questions, the answers to which explain the purpose of the Rotary organization in endeavoring to raise the standard of methods among business and professional men, not alone in the United States, but throughout the world. The questions were asked by the president of the local club, Warder Wyatt, and the answers were given by members of the club.

Will M. Frazee gave the weekly talk on the general subject of "Rotary" and J. H. Scholl spoke briefly regarding a visit to the Greensburg club Monday night by Will O. Feudner and himself. Matt Reeves of Dallas, Texas was present and spoke for a few minutes.

ANOTHER LIQUOR CASE WEDNESDAY

Special Venire Of Ten Drawn For Jury In Trial Of Elmer Hendricks
For Selling Liquor

MILLER ASKS JUDGE CHANGED

Dorothy Corainitia Granted Divorce
From Louis Corasinitia, $600
Alimony, $25 For Attorney

Elmer Hendricks will go on trial Wednesday morning in the circuit court on a charge of unlawful sale of liquor, and a special venire of ten names was ordered today for jury service. Pleasant A. Miller, another defendant, filed a motion for a change of judge, which was granted, and his case will be tried at the option of the judge who is elected to try the case.

Four defendants are implicated in this alleged liquor case, which was brought to light several weeks ago, when two federal agents came here and according to the affidavit, a purchase was made over the bar, in which the defendants are alleged to be affiliated.

The court today heard the divorce suit of Dorothy V. Corasinitia against Louis Corasinitia, and the plaintiff was awarded a divorce, $600 alimony and $25 attorney fees. Her maiden name, Dorothy Davis was restored, and she was restrained from remarrying for two years.

The court in the decree ordered the Glenwood bank, against whom an injunction has been served, to pay $625 to the clerk of the court, as the evidence disclosed that the defendant had on deposit in the bank $645.78, and for which the bank was restrained from permitting to be drawn upon during the pendency of the case.

The petition of Silvertown Bebout, guardian for Harter Bebout to sell real estate of which he and his sister Ethel Bebout are owners, was heard and the defendant, Miss Bebout, defaulted, and the court ordered the property sold, and the money divided.

The court this afternoon was taking up former court business, without the assistance of a jury, which was ordered to report Wednesday for the state case, referred to above.

A suit filed Monday by Walter B. Smith against Paul Daubenspeck, was incorrectly compiled by the attorneys, and the defendant's name was later changed to Philip Daubenspeck.

Program for Minstrel Frolic to be Given Thursday and Friday Nights
by Kiwanians is Announced

Reserved seats for the Black and White Minstrel Revue, which will be given Thursday and Friday nights at the Graham Annex auditorium under the auspices of the Kiwanis club, will go on sale at Oren's pharmacy Wednesday morning at nine o'clock.

The advance sale of tickets for the minstrel frolic indicates that a large crowd of people will be permitted to reserve more than six seats.

C. F. Thomas, who is here in the interest of the John B. Rogers Producing Company, directing the Kiwanis Minstrel, is a mighty busy man these days. It makes no difference to Mr. Thomas whether it is a dance, a fancy step, a character part, end man, or anything else in the minstrel, he is right there to show how it is to be done. His enthusiasm, energy and ability have created for him a warm spot in the hearts of all with whom he is working. Mr Thomas has been with the John B. Rogers Producing Company for several years and the local Kiwanis Club is congratulating itself upon having such a capable director in charge of the minstrel.

The program was announced today and will be as follows:

PART 1

Master of Ceremonies—Samuel Traub.
Funnymakers—George Hogsett, William Young, Earl Osborne, Hale Pearsey, Wilmer Brown and Will Jay.

GOES ON RECORD IN FAVOR OF 'GAS' TAX

Eighth District Farm Bureau Officials Meeting Also Votes For Law to Limit Loads of Trucks

SESSION HELD HERE MONDAY

W. H. Settle Speaker of Producers Commission Association and Lewis Taylor Discusses Drive

Two motions were adopted at the regular meeting of the farm bureau officials of the eighth district, which was held in the court house here Monday, declaring for a law to limit the load of a motor truck and a tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline to be prorated back to the counties.

Routine business of the organization was transacted and it was decided to hold the next regular meeting at Greensburg next February.

Every county in the district was represented by the county president of the farmers' organizations with the exception of Franklin, Johnson and Brown. Other counties in the district that were represented by their county association officers or others delegated as representatives, were Bartholomew, Union, Fayette, Rush, Shelby and Decatur.

The principal address of the afternoon session was delivered by W. H. Settle on the Producers' Commission association. This was followed by a discussion of the organization and its policies, and P. J. Lux of Shelby county and Fred Bell of this county were appointed to draft resolutions, placing the district association on record in regard to the commission association.

The resolutions were written and unanimously adopted before adjournment Monday afternoon. They recommended that the dividend of the association on hand January 1, 1923 be prorated back to the members and also urged that each member of the shipping association and each county agent be sent the market report. They also suggested that the accrued surplus be placed at the bottom of each report.

Lewis Taylor of Indianapolis, treasurer and director of the Indiana Federation of Farmers associations, spoke at the afternoon session regarding the membership campaign that will be conducted simultaneously in each county of the state early in September.

The first business transacted at the morning session was the passing of a resolution to instruct the legislative committee of the state association to try and obtain the passage of a law at the next session of the Indiana legislature, which meets in January, to limit the load of a motor truck.

The second motion carried was to the effect that the same committee be asked to recommend a law providing for a tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline, the revenue to be prorated back to the counties and a reduction made in the present tax levy for road work to balance the revenue.

In addition to the county presidents, several secretaries of county organizations and county agents were present.

TWO MEN PLEAD GUILTY

Civil Suit Also is Filed Today in Justice Stech's Court

Two men paid fines in Justice Stech's court as result of recent affidavits filed, and also a civil suit was filed today by Fred Hillgoss against Donel Laughlin, the complaint being on an account involving a farm lease, and with the demand at $195.

J. L. Saunders of Oxford, O., paid a fine of $1 and costs for speeding through Glenwood. The charge was preferred by Dan Laughlin the town marshal, and several other cases are pending.

Ora Nelson pleaded guilty to a charge of passing a school hack, which was loading school children, and he was fined $1.00 and costs.

LOWEST TEMPERATURE OF FALL IS RECORDED

Mercury Drops To Twenty Degrees
This Morning, Causing First
Freeze Of The Season

NO CHANGE IS IN PROSPECT

The first freezing temperature of this fall was recorded this morning at the Rush county government weather station at Mauzy, east of Rushville, when the temperature dropped to twenty degrees above zero.

This represents a drop of eleven degrees as compared with Monday morning when the thermometer stood at thirty-one above. The ground was frozen and ice formed during the night, indicating that the temperature had fallen much lower during the night than at any time this fall.

The sky was bright and free of clouds today, and the weather man was predicting more fair weather. Not much change in temperature is expected, according to the weather man, but the comparatively cold weather is not likely to continue long.

Snow fell in Indianapolis Monday, but there was no indication of snow here, although many people contended that they saw some evidence of snow in the air.

CHARLES E. LIDDLE DIES MONDAY NIGHT

Well Known Farmer And Prominent Church Worker Expires Following
An Operation

BURIAL AT LAWRENCEBURG

Charles E. Liddle, age 70 years, a well known and prominent farmer, living a mile west of Rushville, expired Monday night at eight o'clock at the Dr. Sexton hospital, following a serious operation which he underwent last week.

The deceased was a native of Dearborn county, and moved here nine years ago, where he engaged in farming. The funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was an elder. Dr. Reynolds of Liberty will have charge of the services, and the interment will be made in Greendale cemetery at Lawrenceburg in the afternoon, when the motor caravan arrives from this city.

The deceased is survived by the widow and one son, George J. Liddle, a student at Purdue University, one brother, the Rev. H. L. Liddle of Arcadia, and four sisters Ella R. Liddle of Warren, Anna N. Liddle of Marion, Mrs. J. C. White, Ft. Wayne and Laura E. Liddle of California.

MEETING POSTPONED

A congregational meeting which was to have been held tonight at the First Presbyterian church, has been postponed indefinitely on account of the death of Charles E. Liddle, an elder of the church.

ONLY SEVEN HAVE REPLIED

Other 13 Nations Have Ignored Any Plans Suggested For Conferences
To "Talk It Over"

By WILLIAM J. LOSH
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

(Copyright 1922, by U. P.)

Washington, Nov. 21.—America's chance for obtaining quick action this winter on refunding of the debts owed by foreign countries, aggregating over eleven billion dollars, appeared dimmer here today as inquiry revealed few countries have made any actual moves toward establishing contact with the debt refunding commission.

Of twenty nations, beneficiaries of the American treasury during the war years, only seven, according to records of the commission, have made overtures looking toward refunding negotiations. These are England, France, Belgium, Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, Italy and Poland.

The degree of their responses to American invitations to "come and talk it over" varies.

The belief is held that the procrastination of foreign countries is occasioned not only by their inability to see their way toward paying even if the debts are refunded, but because in 1919 they were all informed that this country was willing to declare at three year moratorium on payments pending refunding arrangements if the countries would immediately enter such negotiations.

The proposal was never acceded to but the impression apparently prevailed that the three year moratorium nevertheless remained valid. This expired in April of this year.

England has tentatively named a commission to visit Washington and talk refunding and has recently paid the treasury $100,000,000 on account of interest.

France, during the past summer named a delegate, M. Jean Parmentier, who conferred with the commission for a number of weeks. Parmentier was suddenly recalled to his home country, leaving behind him "unfinished business" and the debt refunding commission has no word of his return.

France which maintains that payment of her debt is out of the question is nevertheless paying to this country approximately $21,000,000, annually in interest.

Belgium has named a delegate to appear before the commission—Baron deCartier, her ambassador to this country. DeCartier however, has as yet made no approach to the committee to set a date for commencing negotiations.

Jugo-Slavia has likewise appointed her diplomatic representative in Washington to negotiate refunding. Dr. Pavaich, however, has made no definite overtures for refunding the $58,000,000 indebtedness of his country to the United States.

Rumania has two delegates at present in Washington who are actively engaged in conversation with the debt refunding commission.

Italy inquired of this country last summer when she could send a refunding mission. Since that time no further word has been received.

Poland, with a debt of $153,000,000 and a currency quoted at 15,000 marks to the dollar has declared her willingness to enter negotiations for refunding her debt but has not followed the matter up, pending final adjudication of the amount she owes. Cuba occupied perhaps a unique position among the debtors in that she has not broached refunding to this country, but regularly pays interests on her $7,000,000 debt every six months.

WILL ELIMINATE THE CHINCH BUG

Large Number of Indiana Communities Organize Burning Projects During Rest of November

THIS MONTH THE BEST TIME

This Fall Bugs Went Into Winter Quarters Successfully in Two-Thirds of Indiana Counties

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 21.—A large number of Indiana counties will try to eliminate the chinch bug menace to the corn crop next year by extensive community burning projects to be carried on during the rest of this month, according to word received by the entomology department of Purdue University, in dozens of requests to learn the best methods of burning. This work will be carried on in White, Lake, Newton, Howard, Tippecanoe and a number of other counties where the bugs were especially bad the past year. November is the best time to burn over their hiding places, along ditch banks, fence rows and wherever they can find a good place to spend the winter under grass.

"This fall the bugs went into winter quarters successfully in two-thirds of the counties in Indiana and in most cases in large numbers," said Prof. J. J. Davis, head of the entomology department of Purdue University. "There is every reason to expect a recurrence of the chinch bug next year. The chinch bug passes the winter as a full-grown insect in almost any protected place but especially in bunchy grasses close to the ground, preferring south and west slopes of ditch banks and hedges; also in brushy patches in neglected fields or along roadsides, and sometimes beneath leaves in open timber lots and beneath the lower leaf sheaths of corn.

"Thorough burning will destroy 65 to 80 percent of the bugs and if the burning is done in November the remaining 20 to 35 percent of live bugs will, because of the burning, be exposed to the winter, resulting in a large mortality," said Prof. Davis. "If burning is delayed until spring, this exposure and extra mortality will not result."

Burning to give best results should be thorough and practiced by entire communities. Persons interested should get in touch immediately with their county agricultural agent. Full information on the best method of burning can be obtained from the agent or by dropping a card to the Department of Entomology, Purdue University, at Lafayette.

MEXICO GIVING AID TO FARMERS

Wooden Plows Are Being Replaced With Modern Implements By Government Co-operation

U. S. SELLS FULL LINE

Mexican Government Saves Farmers Big Profit By Acting As Dealers With Their Warehouses

Mexico City. (By mail to the United Press).—The day of the wooden plow in Mexico is passing. Through a governmental agency the most modern of American agricultural implements are being furnished the Mexican farmer, particularly the small farmer.

These implements are being sold by the government at cost and cheaper than they could be purchased by Mexicans from direct sources, because the government purchases the implements in large quantities. The saving to the farmer is very large.

The agency having charge of the implements is known as the commercial branch of the department of agriculture and operates solely to develop agriculture and assist the smaller farmers.

Sections of the country which never before saw anything but a wooden, homemade plow are now using the best implements that the United States can produce.

All of the implements are purchased from the United States with the exception of two or three little pieces of machinery. A special freight rate is also secured in Mexico.

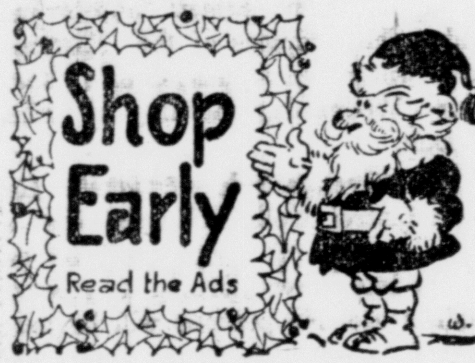

A full line of every modern implement is kept on hand and farmers are given time in which to make payments. Usually twenty-five percent is paid when purchase is made but if the farmer cannot afford this he is given a certain time to make this initial payment.

At the present time there is approximately $2,000,000 worth of farm implements in government warehouses. The implements are generally purchased through representatives of American firms stationed in Mexico and payments are taken care of by a special appropriation for the department of agriculture.

A new plan is being projected, however, whereby an agricultural co-operative organization formed by the government will take care of the purchase of the implements and will also arrange for credits to the farmers.

Bernardo Felix is the chief of the commercial branch of the department of agriculture in the Republic and F. J. Lobo is in charge of the Mexico City office.

Miles and Minutes

THE Atlantic cable is approximately 3500 miles long. Yet, to the newspapers, London is only a few minutes from New York. Your paper tells you about happenings in the Old World within a few hours of their occurrence. For newspaper enterprise has reduced those miles to minutes.

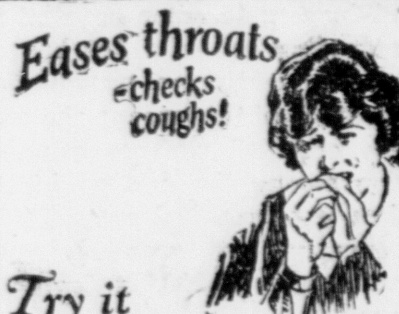

How far back we would go without newspapers! We would remain in ignorance, not only of events at home and abroad—but also of much that concerns us even more vitally—news of things that have to do with our personal, every-day lives.

Every day new things appear—new products that save time, labor and money are introduced—new comforts, new conveniences and new ideas are continually being worked out and offered for your benefit.

The advertisements bring you news of all this progress. They tell you all about these things, where to get them, how to get them and how much to pay for them. The advertisements are daily directories to wise buying.

Read the advertisements. Protect yourself in your buying, by getting the products which have proved their worth by making good under the spotlight of consistent publicity.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 50c.

MURDEROUS ITALIAN GOES ON A RAMPAGE

Donato Fierro, Richmond, Strangles Wife and Daughter and Fatally Shoots Section Foreman

TWO OTHERS ARE WOUNDED

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 21.—A murder rampage by an Italian laborer here today resulted in the death of his wife and daughter and William Henderson and the serious wounding of two other men.

Scores of armed men rushed to the place where Henderson was shot to death, three miles east of town, in search for Donato Fierro.

Henderson, foreman of a section gang on the Pennsylvania, had discharged Fierro Saturday in reducing his force of workmen. While he and his gang were working on the track, today, Henderson was shot and killed from ambush and two other workmen named Perkins and Hagen were shot but will recover.

Fierro was seen by other employees and officers rushed to the man's home. The wife Rosaria and the nine-year-old daughter were lying dead in the mother's bed strangled. Apparently the mother had been dead twelve hours and the girl four hours. The girl was lying in her mother's arms.

Fierro came here nineteen years ago from Italy and with the reputation of having killed the chief of police and terrorizing his townspeople there.

RED CROSS HEALS WOUNDS OF WAR

25,000 Disabled Ex-Service Men in Hospitals After Four Years of Peace.

CHAPTERS' FIELD OF SERVICE

Every Veteran Needing Help Gets Individual Attention of Sympathetic Workers.

When on November 11 the world halts to observe the fourth anniversary of Armistice Day, and the American Red Cross inaugurates its Annual Roll Call for the enrollment of the 1923 membership, the people of the United States may well pause to think of the unparalleled contribution to the cause of peace made by our Army and Navy in the World War. The glory of it is a common tradition; but the wounds of war remain. They are not healed in a day, in a year, nor in four years. And on Armistice Day there will be under treatment in Government hospitals over 25,000 ex-service men, broken physically by wounds, exposure, nervous strain and exhaustion incident to their service in the war.

The Government without stint is undertaking to furnish these disabled men with the compensation and medical care to which they are entitled, yet their especial care is a duty of the Red Cross. Why? Because the Government cannot handle the cases of ex-service men individually; it must handle these men in bulk under a standardized policy. The Government has neither the authority, the funds or the equipment for working out the problem of the individual man. There is where the American Red Cross finds its greatest field for service, aiding through its very active Chapters in reaching the disabled man with immediate practical help, assisting his family while his claim is emerging from the process of adjustment, furnishing articles of comfort, funds to tide over the difficult periods, the friendly touch of personal encouragement, helpful recreation and worry-dispelling amusement. It is the warm hand of sympathy and understanding which the American Red Cross extends to the majority of these disabled ex-service men, some of them friendless in the whirl of life, thousands of them with wives and children dependent upon them, and hundreds of them frequently helpless in the face of grim necessity.

2,679 Chapters Aiding Veterans

In this work, upon whose accomplishment the American Red Cross is urging a record-breaking enrollment in the Roll Call which opens on Armistice Day and closes with Thanksgiving Day, 2,679 Chapters in all parts of the country are engaged. This is 350 more than were working for ex-service men last year when approximately $10,000,000 was expended by the National Organization and the Chapters working together in harmonious unity.

For the current fiscal year National Headquarters appropriated $3,030,622.90, an increase of $365,560.84 over the amount spent for the work among ex-service men in the year ended June 30 last. Since it is estimated that the Chapters will expend close to $7,000,000 from their own funds, the grand total of Red Cross expenditures for this single work is expected again to reach the $10,000,000 mark by June 30, 1923.

Hospital and District Office Work

During the fiscal year a total of over 1,000 persons, paid and volunteer, has been engaged in Red Cross duty in hospitals or district offices of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. An average of 8,000 new cases requires definite and particular attention each month. The demand for Chapter-made articles for hospital patients is constant.

During last year Service Claims and Information Service at National Headquarters handled 37,200 compensation and insurance claims, 24,560 allotment and allowance cases, and 9,700 miscellaneous claims. Since February, 1919, it has disposed of 64,174 allotment checks payable to veterans which the Post Office Department reported undeliverable.

The Chapter is the unit of the Red Cross organization which is accessible to every disabled veteran or his family. Between July 1, 1921, and June 30, 1922, the Chapters had reported 1,065,079 instances of service to ex-service men and their dependents, at a cost estimated from reports now at hand of more than $5,340,000.

The basis of this far-reaching work of the Red Cross is the individual needs of the disabled veteran to the end that he may obtain his rights under the law, that his especial wants may be immediately supplied, that his own and his family's situation may be rendered happy and cheerful, and that their outlook for the future may visualize incentives for independent and fruitful effort.

SUES FOR $100,000 DAMAGES

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Suit for $100,000 for alleged slander has been brought against Clark W. Shaw, manager of the Chicago Civi Opera company by Aurelio Fabiani, former violinist of the company. Fabiani charges that Shaw circulated stories that he tried to extract a $40,000 bribe from Lois Elwell opera singer for which he is said to have guaranteed her a position with the company. Fabiani was charged for his alleged offer to Miss Elwell.

WHY WILL YE DIE? As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked. Turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?—Ezekiel 33: 11.

Obstructionists

Senator LaFollette has assumed the leadership of the so-called progressives in congress and has issued a call for a definite organization of the progressive group.

The proposal to organize those who alone term themselves progressives will probably fall of its own weight under the leadership of such a man as LaFollette, who is not in any construction of the word a progressive, but is a plain obstructionist.

The Wisconsin senator could scarcely expect any true American to follow his leadership with the war record that he has and which the American people have not forgotten.

If the progressive movement has any merit, it will not commend itself to the people of the United States by permitting the domination of a man like LaFollette, who is a bureaucrat and whose socialistic tendencies should not be allowed to have any influence on the legislation of the congress.

It will be purely a defeatist movement, with LaFollette at the helm. This is disclosed by the announcement that the proposed progressive movement has for its aim the defeat of the administration program, which includes the ship subsidy bill, road legislation and the control of the national forests by the department of the interior.

Idle Rumors Busy Things

Idle rumors are busy little things. In time they are often accepted as stupendous facts.

Any person can suggest something that is utterly absurd, and there will be hundreds of people ready to believe it, especially if it is at the expense of some other person.

The next time you hear a juicy piece of scandal do not be too hasty in swallowing it whole. Three fourths of it may be rumor grown to huge proportions.

Because a man has a reputation for telling the truth is no indication that his truthfulness is in all cases commendable.

Some people with even the best of intentions do not know how to curb their tongues. They blurt out the truth upon all occasions, and particularly at the wrong time.

There are times when the cause of justice and humanity requires the suppression of the truth until the psychological moment for divulging it. Any other course would result in disaster or a miscarriage of justice.

A wise tongue knows when not to wag.

N. E. R. HAS FLOATING RELIEF WAREHOUSE

Constantinople, (By-Mail to U. P.)—A floating warehouse established by the American Near East Relief has begun functioning and is distributing relief supplies among the islands in the Aegean Sea. The warehouse—the 3,000-ton steamer Marie Louise—was chartered to cruise around the Aegean, leaving at each port supplies sufficient to last one month.

Arthur H. Troyon of Wilmington, N. C., who has charge of the Marie Louise, reported at the end of the first cruise, in which the ship visited Mitylene, Chios, Samos, Rodosto, and other smaller ports, that the idea was a complete success.

The Near East Relief has established relief stations at Philippopolis, under J. D. McNabb, of Richmond, Va.; Dedagatch, under H. A. Davidson, of Columbus, O.; Kavalla under W. V. M. Wright, of Philadelphia and Demotica, under Stephen Lowe, of St. Louis, Mo.

TO MEET WHITELAND HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Local High School Basketball Team
Will Play Unknown Foe In First
Mid-Week Game

AT SHELBYVILLE FRIDAY

The first mid-week high school basketball game of the season will be played here Wednesday night, when the Whiteland high school comes for a 40 minute tilt with the local team. The visiting team, from Johnson county usually has a fast crew, but has always been an unknown factor because of the strong opposition with Franklin in their district.

Two weeks ago Whiteland played at Greensburg, and the Tree City team did not have much trouble defeating them, although Greensburg has a much better team this year than for several years, and this games does not mean that Whiteland will be an easy foe.

Coach Jones is working with the local squad this week, after their defeat at Columbus last Friday, and it is expected that some improvements will be shown. The locals lacked team work last Friday and could not get together with the ball.

The red shirters from the local school will have to step lively Friday night, when they journey down to Shelbyville, where they will tackle the fast team from that city in the new Paul Cross gymnasium, as the second attraction since the place was opened. Shelbyville has lost their first three games played, and have met stiff opposition in Frankfort, Martinsville and Franklin, and they expect that the locals will be "easy picking."

HAS TWO GAMES THIS WEEK

Arlington Meets Fairview Tonight
And Moscow Friday Night

Fairview and Arlington high school basketball teams will meet tonight at the Arlington gymnasium, and Arlington expects to get back in the winning column again, after their defeat by Milroy Friday night. Arlington has a fast team this year, and will no doubt give the Fairview team a big tussle. On Friday night, the Moscow team will play at Arlington, and the real test for the two county teams will come at that time.

WEBB TO PLAY NEW SALEM

The Webb and New Salem high school basketball teams will meet Friday night on the floor at New Salem, and a great game is looked forward to by the fans of the two teams. In a preliminary game, the two girls' teams of the two schools will play, and this game also is expected to be a close race.

Hard Fights For Welter Crown

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Nov. 21—"Hope you hold it as long as I did", Jack Britton told young Mickey Walker, when the judges handed the Jersey youth the welterweight championship after their recent bout.

"Hope I do and wish I could be as good a champion as you've been," the proud little "Mike" said. There is little hope for the consummation of the hope or the fulfillment of the wish.

Not that young Walker did not earn the decision which gave him the championship and not that he is not a fine chap, but the task of filling the shoes of grand old Jack Britton is too much to expect of any of the modern school of boxers or fighters. The former champion may not compare to the rough style of bruising predecessors who made names before him, but he was first in the school of scientific boxing.

If the "art of self-defense" is to be accepted as something more than an alibi for prize fighting, Britton was one of the greatest of all times because he was a great master at it.

Walker happened along when age had taken so much fire and energy from the veteran champion that he was ready to be dethroned by the first good youngster who could not be outwitted and outtalked. Walker just happened along.

In a division that is rapidly swelling with promising youngsters, Mickey Walker has anything but an easy road ahead of him if he chooses to stay out of a shell and become a real fighting champion, something that is a rarity in these commercial days.

Any young champion who has George Ward, Dave Shade, Andy Thomas and several others ahead of him has no long time title on the crown ahead of him, unless he has a lot of stuff.

There is also a young sensation out in Cincinnati who has never appeared in the east—Billy Ryan, who broke into the game as a sparring partner with Britton. Before his dethronement, Britton rated Ryan as the most dangerous man in the class.

Since the fall of the "Old Master" whose skill had them all leary, there is to be expected a rush of 140 pounds lightweights into the class.

Lew Tendler, the Philadelphia southpaw, has already announced his intention to invade the welterweight class and with the opportunity of making the weight he wants Tendler is one of the most dangerous young men in the ring.

Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion, not only wants to stretch out into the welterweight division but he has already tried out, unsuccessfully as it turned out, in an unsatisfactory bout with Britton.

INDEPENDENT TEAMS TO PLAY TONIGHT

Rushville Shamrocks, With Strong Line-up, Will Play Moscow at Blue Ridge in Opener

CLOSE GAME IS EXPECTED

The Rushville Shamrocks basketball team, an independent organization, will play their first game of the season tonight at Blue Ridge, meeting the Moscow team. The local team will be a road team this year owing to the fact that there is no local gymnasium accessible.

The line-up of players for the locals will be Stewart and Martin at forwards; Hutchinson, at center; Moore and Becker at guards with Davis and Caron as utility men. Stewart is also to play with the Em-Roes this year and Hutchinson is from New Palestine, and is an Em-Roe player.

Moscow will be represented with an independent team composed of Milroy and Moscow talent, and besides the Gossnell brothers, Tillison, and Peck, the team will be strengthened by two former college players, Louis Means, high school coach at Moscow, and John Beasley coach at Milroy.

The Moscow team will also journey up to Hartford City on Thursday night to meet the strong team of that city.

MERITS ORGANIZE A TEAM

Wants Games With Basketball Fives
In 120-Pound Class

The Merits Athletic club has organized a basketball team, it was announced today, and seeks games with independent teams in the 120-pound class with access to a gymnasium. It will be a road team because no gym here being accessible, and practice will be held on an open court adjoining Wainwright's grocery store in West Third street.

The Merits had a base ball team last summer that made teams in its class step some. Teams who wish games with the Merits are asked to see or write A. M. Walker at the Daily Republican office or Lemoine Smith of West Third street.

"Yale looks upon the suggestions with reluctance because of the excellent manner in which the Yale-Harvard-Princeton agreement is working" he says.

New York—Harry Greb, American light-heavyweight champion, and George Engle, his manager will sever relations on December 29, according to Engle. Their contract expires then, and Greb will do his own business after that.

Fort Worth—Dick Kerr, former White Sox pitching star who held out all last season, has applied to Commissioner Landis for re-installment and hopes to be back in the American League next season.

New York—Pancho Villa, American flyweight champion, has been ordered by the boxing commission to fight in his own class. The commission stopped arrangements being made for a Villa-Terry Martin fight and told Villa there were plenty of good flyweights for his attention.

London—Ted "Kid" Lewis, English middleweight champion, successfully defended his title last night, winning a twenty round decision from Roland Todd.

RADIO

VACUUM TUBE WHEN USED AS AMPLIFIER

It Will Function Thus for Either
Radio Frequency or Audio Frequency.

Starting today we shall give a detailed description of the vacuum tube when used as an amplifier. This series, as in the past, is continuous and if clipped out and saved will be convenient for reference.

When the three-electrode vacuum tube was used as a detector, the circuits associated with it were such that where a symmetrical alternating difference was applied to the grid, a symmetrical change in plate current resulted. That is to say, the vacuum tube acted as a rectifier. In addition to rectifying, the tube also amplified. The variation in plate circuit was "K," where "K" is the amplification constant of the tube, times what it would have been in a two-electrode tube, for the same potential impressed on the grid.

By properly adjusting the electrical constants of the circuits associated with a three-electrode tube, symmetrical variations of grid potential can be made to produce symmetrical variation in plate current, which are "K" times the amplitude of the plate circuit variations of a similar two-electrode value with the same applied grid potential. This means that if a three-electrode value be used in the proper circuits in a radio receiver, the signals can be made to appear as though the received signal is "K" times as strong as it actually is. If two tubes are used with their proper circuits in conjunction with a radio receiver the received signals will appear to be "K" times as strong as they actually are and so the apparent strength of the incoming signal is multiplied by "K" for each additional tube added to the receiver circuit.

A vacuum tube used in conjunction with a circuit that will cause the plate current to vary in exact proportion to the applied grid voltage, but apparently caused by "K" times the actual grid voltage variation, is called an amplifier. If the tube functioning as an amplifier is used to amplify the incoming signal at radio frequency before it is rectified by the detector, it is termed a radio frequency amplifier. If the tube functioning as an amplifier is used after the incoming radio frequency has been rectified by the detector, it is termed an audio frequency amplifier.

Returning again to the characteristic curve of the three-electrode vacuum tube, shown in Figure 23, notice its shape. Suppose that a positive potential was applied to the grid by means of a "C" battery so that the tube would function at a point represented by "A" on the characteristic curve. If now the applied grid potential from the "C" battery be reduced by an amount represented by A-B in Figure 23 the corresponding reduction in plate current will be represented by B-E. On the other hand if the grid potential be increased by an amount represented by A-C, where A-C equals B-C, the corresponding increase in plate current is C-D.

If the portion of the characteristic curve in the region of E-A-D is a portion of the curve determine the amplification of the tube. The more nearly vertical the straight portion of the curve is, the greater will be the change in plate current for a given change in grid potential, or in other words, the louder will be the response in the telephone receivers corresponding to a given received signal. The length of the straight portion of the curve determines the maximum variation in grid potential that will cause the tube to function properly without distortion.

HOPPE'S ROAD TO VICTORY IS CLEAR

Former Balkline Billiard Champion
Nearly Stumbles on His Path
Back to Championship

HAS A VERY NARROW ESCAPE

Plays Poorest Game of Tournament
Monday Night, Finally Winning
From German, 500 to 462

New York, Nov. 21—Willie Hoppe nearly stumbled last night on his path back to the world's 18.2 balkline billiard championship, by Erich Hagenlacher, German cue artist, refused to take advantage of the former title holder's mistakes and today Hoppe's road to victory appeared clear.

Hoppe had a narrow escape, playing his poorest game to date in the tournament, but finally ran out his fourth straight victory.

The final score was 500 to 462, Hoppe averaging 22.16/22 and Hagenlacher 22.

Jake Schaeffer, present title holder, won his game from Welker Cochran last night, 500 to 303, by playing very good billiards and as a result is in a position to tie Hoppe, providing he can win his game tonight. Schaeffer displayed a steady stroke in yesterday's exhibition and finished the game with an average of 31.4/16.

In case Schaeffer is able to defeat Hoppe in the all-important match tonight and Edouard Horemans, the Belgian champion, does as expected and defeats Conti, the Frenchman, the tournament will be deadlocked in a triple tie.

If both Horemans and Schaeffer win the triple tie resulting will make it necessary for an extra series of games to be played and in that case many of the experts think it will be a toss up as to which wins.

The standing of the players at the present time follows:

Hoppe won four, lost none.
Horemans, won 3 lost 1.
Schaeffer, won 3, lost 1.
Conti, won 2, lost 2.
Cochran won 2, lost 4.
Hagenlacher, won none, lost 5.

The W. R. C. will meet in the G. A. R. room of the court house Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock.

The Yomo club will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ernest Staida, 109 East Third street.

Mrs. William Knecht, Sr., will give a card party at her home north of the city on Thursday night, for the benefit of the St. Mary's Catholic school building fund.

Mrs. J. H. Harnish, of Anderson, Mrs. W. H. Jackson of Benton Harbor, Michigan, and her daughter Mrs. Florence, who is a graduate nurse of New York, have returned to their respective homes after being the weekend house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Selman Webb at their home in West Third street.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Krammes and sons Lowell and Roland of near New Salem had as their dinner guests Sunday, the Rev. and Mrs. F. T. Taylor and daughter Helen of Glenwood, Mr. and Mrs. James Henry and daughter Nellie and Phyllis Jean and son Paul Reed and Nellie Armstrong, all of Orange. The day was spent with music and informality.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Stevens entertained with a quail and rabbit supper Monday evening at their home southwest of the city. The dining table was beautifully decorated with fall flowers. Covers were laid for Walter Stevens of Connersville, Guy Stevens of Indianapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Linville and family of this city and Earl Ronan of New Salem.

Neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Windeler of Circleville delightfully surprised them Monday evening. The affair was in the form of a farewell party, as Mr. and Mrs. Windeler will move from Circleville in the near future. The evening was enjoyed informally with games

MAKING NEW FUR COATS OUT OF THE OLD ONES

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for United Press)

New York, Nov. 21.—This is the season when women are either purchasing new fur coats or having the old ones remodeled. There are many things about fashions which one may tell a woman, but when it comes to having her fur coat made over, she usually has very definite ideas of her own.

However, this season offers so many styles in furs that one is liable to become confused as to their wants. In the first place there are the short, hip length coats which we all know and which are shown in so many models that it is needless to enlarge. They are in very good style this season and one could not go wrong in having a coat that has seen its best as a long coat cut up into one of them. The furrier can usually get a fresh looking short coat out of the better parts of an old long one.

For the woman who wants a long coat, there are always ways of having new fur added to old coats to rehabilitate them, but this calls for considerable expense. Recently I saw in a very smart Fifth avenue shop a coat, which to my mind, is an ideal solution for the remodeling of the long seal coat, as it combined a minimum of expense with complete beauty of line.

A full skirt of seal was attached to a heavy black satin bodice, which was completely hidden by two waist-length panels of seal which fell in cape effect in front and in back. The front panel was divided, forming wide panels, and a small rolled collar was attached at the neckline. None of the satin bodice could be seen at all. The sleeves were of satin, finished with cuffs of seal. The whole garment was lined throughout with black satin. By having the bodice and sleeves made of satin, the only fur required on the upper portion of the coat was for the two panels that hung in cape fashion to the slightly low waist. Very little new fur, if any, would have to be added to an old coat to make such a garment.

Gay Bungalow Caps

Here is something new in breakfast caps. It is made of gay cretonne and is buttoned up the back so that it may be easily washed and ironed. It is bound with a plain color in chambray and has a narrow band of this material about it. The brim portion may be turned up or down and is shown here turned up at one side and down on the other.

Why the Standard Oil Company's Business Is Successful

CONSUMERS buy petroleum products from the Company which serves them best. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has succeeded notably because it has given notable service.

The desire to render maximum service to the community has actuated this Company in every one of its undertakings over a long period of years. Proof that the service is being adequately rendered lies in the Company's sales sheets.

Lines of efficiency radiate from the Board of Directors through every department of the organization to the ultimate consumer.

First on the efficiency chart comes quality of product. To maintain this quality there has been organized modern laboratories where every product is chemically tested for the service it is designed to render. High quality once achieved is made a standard from which deviation is never permitted.

Sales and distribution also are organized to produce maximum results at minimum expense. This assures the consumer a dependable supply, and it guarantees that when he buys a Standard Oil Company (Indiana) product he is paying only a fair and equitable price for which he receives full value.

Every factor entering into the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) business, from the purchase of crude, its transportation to the Company's refineries, its manufacture into a large number of useful products, its distribution through an intricate network of main and sub-storage depots, tank wagons, and service stations, is developed with a single eye to serving the public.

Experience has proved that the most profitable business accrues to that organization which serves the public best.

BIG SALE IS EXPECTED

National Tuberculosis Association Expected $5,000,000 from Seals

New York, Nov. 21.—One billion one hundred million Christmas seals have been distributed by the National Tuberculosis Association in anticipation of the Fifteenth Annual Christmas Seal Sale, which begins on December 1. Of this number, the association is expecting to sell five hundred million or the equivalent of $5,000,000.

The Christmas seal design shows a mother with a child in her arms standing in front of a white Christmas seal, on which is emblazoned the double barred cross, the international emblem of the fight against tuberculosis, in red. The design was prepared by T. M. Cleland of New York.

Christmas seals will be on sale in every state in the Union, in the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone and Alaska.

More Strength—Less Strain

Sedan $1465—Touring $995 F. O. B. Factory Tax Extra

When you have checked up the interior of the Jewett Sedan, feature for feature, you will find that it offers every comfort and convenience of the truly fine enclosed car.

Then, remember, that there is an additional satisfaction enjoyed by every Jewett owner. It is absolute confidence in a mechanical foundation that, not only assures brilliant road performance, but long life and minimum repair bills.

The Jewett is not a "light" car—the touring model has 2800 pounds of finely tested metal and excess strength. Every single part has been designed to stand up under brutal punishment—and laugh at it.

Because the six-cylinder motor delivers its power in six overlapping power impulses instead of four distinct, separate jerks, far less strain is put upon the extra strong axle and chassis mechanism. There is no vibration and no undue stress or strain upon any of the working parts.

That is why there can be no axle trouble with the Jewett—no differential troubles—no "constitutional weaknesses". The Jewett is, not only powerful, but strong.

The complete Paige-Jewett line of six-cylinder passenger cars offers a selection of thirteen models priced from $995 to $3350. The complete line of light trucks meets every haulage need. They are sold and serviced by Paige Dealers everywhere.

Good Cast At Princess

It is conceded even by woman haters that ladies must live, be they rich or poor, or ambitious or otherwise. How some of them manage to do so is adequately shown by the late George Loane Tucker in his screen masterpiece "Ladies Must Live," which will be shown at the Princess theatre again today. In this delightful an appealing story, Betty Compson, now a Paramount star and the featured player in the picture named, has the role of a young girl who has been reared by her rich brother-in-law and whose penniless father plans to marry her off to some rich man in order that his income, derived from his son-in-law, may be increased. But there is another woman who has similar plans to obtain an easy living and the two clash with interesting results. Then there is a waif whose love proves a tragedy, and other characters all of whom are component parts of a most consistent story of modern life. The women in the cast include besides Miss Compson, Leatrice Joy, Lucille Hutton, Lule Warrenton and Marcia Manon, all players of ability and reputation.

"Ladies Must Live" is a picturization of a story by Alice Duer Miller which was published in the Saturday Evening Post. It is a dramatic and appealing picture.

"Rip Van Winkle"—Today

Here's good news for the picture patrons of Rushville "Rip Van Winkle", the Ward Lascelle production for Hodgkinson release, will be shown at the Mystic again today.

This is the screen version of "Joe" Jefferson's famous stage play and the title role is in the hands of Thomas Jefferson, his no-less-gifted son. And in Mr. Jefferson's supporting cast are included some of the screen's most popular players, among them Francis Carpenter, Gertrude Messinger Mary Anderson, Daisy Robinson, Milla Davenport, Max Asher, Pietro Sosso and Ted Billings.

The story tells of the adventure that befell "Rip," that lovable old rascal, who originally found his being in the fertile brain of Washington Irving—during his rambles in the Catskills and what transpires in a deep and dreamless sleep after having quaffed of the dwarf's magic liquor. It is said to move at a fast pace and to be replete with humorous and dramatic incidents.

Ward Lascelle, who directed the production, claims that it represents his greatest work thus far, when one takes into consideration the fact that Mr. Lascelle has, either by himself or in association with others, wielded the megaphone for some of the biggest productions the screen has ever known, this statement carries with it considerable weight.

Nation Spends Half Billion A Year for Jazz Instruments

Washington, Nov. 21—America is paying something around a half billion dollars a year for the musical instruments on which to play its jazz, according to estimates of responsible experts who base their calculations on department of census reports.

This includes the manufacturing—not the retail—price of pianos, organs, phonographs, talking machines, violins, trombones, and guitars, with all the other varied assortments of sound making devices purchased during the last year.

The census report for 1919, which is the last compiled, shows that the value of manufactured musical instruments in that year was $320,905,149. This report, just made public, shows a tremendous increase in the industry over preceding years.

Back in 1849, when the ladies would hoop skirts and consequently couldn't get around to the wild gesticulations of jazz notes now in vogue, the total value of musical instruments manufactured in this country reached but $2,580,715.

Even in 1914—up to which time foreign manufacturers, chiefly Germany, monopolized the American market—the manufacturing value was only $49,323,415. Then, in the next five years of the war, it jumped $280,000,000 and since that time there has been a steady increase.

The innovation of the phonograph is large responsible for the huge jump, it is said.

In 1899, the value of manufactured talking machines and phonographs was only $2,246,274. But it jumped to $158,547,870 in 1919 and has increased enormously since that time.

WISCONSIN ISSUES A COW CHALLENGE

West Bend, Wis., Nov. 21—Washington County of Wisconsin issues a challenge to the world.

Pointing with pride to their five active cow testing associations, the farmers of this county have challenged any county in the United States to match their record.

Any other competing county must meet the following points:

- (1)—Five active cow testing associations.
- (2)—Two thousand cows tested annually.
- (3)—Pure bred bulls head every herd of the five cow testing associations.
- (4)—Every herd in each of the five cow testing associations under federal supervision for tuberculosis.
- (5)—The Allenton-Kohseville cow testing association finished last year an average production of 358 pounds fat per cow 29 pounds higher than the next highest association in the state.
- (6)—Two thousand cows in cow testing associations averaging 311 butterfat and 8,884 pounds of milk.

PUBLIC SALE

of REAL ESTATE

The undersigned, Trustee, under and by virtue of a deed executed by John J. Veatch and Amanda J. Veatch, his wife, and also by authority of the Rush Circuit Court, duly entered in a cause therein, entitled "Ruby D. Powell vs. William Edwin Watson, et al.," and numbered 2775 on the dockets thereof, will offer for sale at public sale at 2 o'clock p. m. on MONDAY, THE 18th DAY OF DECEMBER, 1922,

on the premises about two (2) miles southeast of Homer, Indiana, the following described real estate situate in Walker Township, Rush County, Indiana:

The southeast quarter of Section nineteen (19), and the west half of the southwest quarter of Section twenty (20) all in Township thirteen (13) north, Range nine (9) east. Also, thirty-four (34) acres off of the entire south end of the west half of the northwest quarter of Section twenty (20) Township thirteen (13) north, Range nine (9) east.

Said real estate consists of one tract of thirty-four (34) acres and one tract of eighty (80) acres, and one tract of one hundred and sixty (160) acres, and will be sold in three separate parcels and for not less than two-thirds its appraised value. All of said real estate is located about two (2) miles southeast of Homer, Indiana.

There is located on the eighty (80) acre tract a one and one-half story dwelling, two barns, a granary and a garage. Said eighty (80) acres is situated on a recently improved highway, is well fenced and well ditched, and has a gas well which will go to the purchaser of the land.

The thirty-four (34) acre tract has no buildings, but adjoins the eighty (80) acre tract, lying immediately north of it, and the entire thirty-four (34) acres is in new clover.

The one hundred and sixty (160) acre tract lies in one body, is well fenced and ditched, has one two-story, frame dwelling and two large barns and adjoins the eighty (80) acre tract on the west. On this one hundred and sixty (160) acres there is sixty-five acres of growing wheat which goes with the farm, and also thirty-five (35) acres of old clover and thirty (30) acres of new clover.

All of this is level, fertile land and is very desirable for farming purposes.

The purchaser of the eighty (80) acre tract is to have the landlord's rights as the same is rented for Eight Hundred Dollars ($800.00) cash, and the tenant's term ends September 1st, 1923, purchaser to receive all of said cash rental. This is the home farm of John J. Veatch, late of Rush County, Indiana, and is attractively located, close to a desirable market and in the natural gas section of Rush County; there is a good orchard on each of these tracts except on the thirty-four (34) acres. This land has not been rented, but has been operated by the owner for a long term of years.

Full possession of the remainder of the land will be given January 1, 1923.

TERMS OF SALE—The purchaser is to have the privilege of paying one-half cash and the remainder in one year, deferred payments to bear interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum and secured by a first mortgage on the real estate sold, or the purchaser is to have the privilege of paying all of said purchase money in cash. Said land will positively be sold to the highest bidder as it is necessary to sell the same to carry out the provisions of the deed under which this sale is authorized. Any further information will be gladly furnished by the Trustee, who lives at Homer, Indiana.

The boys and girls of the county are greatly excited over the essay contests announced for the schools.
For the purposes of the contest, the pupils will be divided into sections—the grades and high school and prizes will be awarded for the three best essays in each division on the subject, "Why Dad Joined The Farm Bureau." The contest is limited to boys and girls under sixteen years of age. The youngsters are studying the booklets and other literature very carefully before beginning their essays. The prize-winners will be published in this paper. Watch for them.

Consignment of Wool From Rush
County Growers Revealed Different Grades in Shipment

HAS AFFECT ON THE PRICE

Demonstration is Planned Early Next Year so Farmers May Learn Different Varieties

Rush County farmers who sold their wool through the Farm Bureau pool have learned that more than one grade of wool was represented in their shipments, and that some grades were worth more money on the market than other grades.

A typical grading sheet received by one of the members of the pool showed that his consignment consisted of 150 pounds of 3 Blood Staple which brought 45 cents per pound and a smaller amount of 1
Blood Staple which brought 41 cents per pound. Other shipments contained grades of wool of still lower value, such as Medium Cotts which was worth only 30 cents per pound.

The bulk of Rush county wool,
however, was classed in the 3 and 1
Blood Staple grades, which raises the question in the minds of the farmers as to how they can breed up their flocks so as to produce a larger percentage of the higher grades, and thus raise the market value of their wool.

The first step in this direction is for the sheep breeder to learn something of the characteristics of the different wool grades and be able

FARMERS ARE BUYING ONLY PUREBRED SIRES

Have Been Influenced by Financial Gain, Agents and Personal Observation, U. S. Records Disclose

FREQUENT COMMENTS GIVEN

Expectations of financial gain, influence of county agents, and personal observation are among the many causes which are bringing about a gradual increase in the use of purebred sires throughout the country. Records of the "Better Sires—Better Stock" movement, conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture in the various States, include frequent comments by livestock owners of the influences prompting them to improve the quality of their animals.

"I have used purebred bulls for 20 years, but hardly ever used purebred boars until the county agent encouraged me to do so." Such is the comment of a Nebraska farmer in placing his live-stock-breeding operations on a strictly purebredsire basis. Another writes, "In order to assist in the 'Better Sires—Better Stock' crusade I have decided to use only purebred males, which I believe will be my own financial gain."

The foregoing expressions reported in one afternoon's mail to the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, appear to show the influence which its live-stock improvement work is having throughout the county. A good purebred sire, the Department asserts, gradually improved the quality of an entire herd and, with proper breeding methods, continued improvement follows.

Black Stem Rust of Wheat and Other Grains no Longer a Serious Problem There

WORK ACCOMPLISHED BY LAW

Remarkable Achievement Should be Encouragement to Redouble Efforts in This Country

After 100 years' war on one of its major crop pests, western Europe has almost completely annihilated the pernicious common barberry, with the result that the black stem rust of wheat and other grains is no longer a serious problem there.
This remarkable achievement should be an encouragement to redouble efforts in our own country against the pest, the United States Department of Agriculture points out. Dr.
E. C. Stakman, of the Department of Agriculture and of the University of Minnesota, who has just returned from a five months' trip in European countries, states that the black stem rust of wheat has not flourished except in the immediate vicinity of barberry bushes and where the bushes are still generally prevalent.

In France, Austria, Hungary,
Germany, and Denmark, the work was accomplished very largely by means of laws. The farmers of England took matters into their own hands and removed the bushes without the aid of the law. Now scarcely a single common barberry can be found in farming districts. Several countries passed barberry eradication laws recently. Norway, Sweden, Bavaria, and Hungary all were so strongly impressed with the beneficial results of eradicating the bushes that new eradication laws have been passed within recent years. In fact, the common barberry is now very rare in the agricultural districts of England, France, Austria, Hungary, Czecho-Slovakia, Germany, Holland and Denmark, and black stem rust is correspondingly rare. There is said to be no question whatever but that the black stem rust has decreased in importance in proportion to the thoroughness with which barberries have been removed. The evidence in England and Denmark is particularly conclusive.

During a 70-mile automobile trip near the fens of England, not a trace of black stem rust was found except near three barberry bushes. Again, in Wales, not a trace of the rust could be found, after driving for a great many miles, except on several farms where there were barberries. In fact, the relationship here was so clear that it was possible easily to locate the barberry bushes by tracing the rust to its source. Most of the plant pathologists of England agree that black stem rust can not exist there without the common barberry. The same thing seems to be true throughout most of France. It was impossible to find any black stem rust up to the middle of June except in the Alps and Jura Mountains, where there still are a great many barberry bushes. The relationship between the barberry and the development of rust was so evident that even the peasants knew it thoroughly. The only reason the barberries are permitted to remain is because it would be practically impossible to eradicate them and because only a little grain is sown.

In Italy, black stem rust is destructive only in the mountains and in the northern part of the country where there are barberries. In the old Austro-Hungarian Empire, there was a law requiring the destruction of barberry bushes and there usually is only a little black stem rust except in the hilly and mountainous districts where the barberry bushes remain. The same is true of Germany. Plant pathologists of that country stated that when a severe outbreak of rust occurred, they simply went out and looked for the barberry bushes, and had them removed.

Barberry bushes have been almost completely removed from Denmark, and there has not been a single serious outbreak of rust since 1903, when most of the bushes were removed. The sporadic outbreaks now can easily be traced to barberry bushes which still remain in wooded and waste lands. Nothing could be more convincing than the contracts between the rust situation in Denmark and that in Sweden. In Denmark the rust does no damage whatever. In Sweden, on the other hand, it is extremely destructive because of the tremendous number of barberry bushes.

HOOSIER GOLD MEDAL SHEEP CLUB STARTED

Breeders and Producers That Reach Certain Standard With Their
Lambs Can Qualify

TO CHANGE MARKETING TIME

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 21—Plans for a Hoosier Gold Medal Sheep Club have been completed and announced by the Indiana Live Stock Breeders' Association. Gold Medals will be given to sheep breeders and producers in Indiana that make two-thirds of the lambs in their flocks weigh either 65 pounds in March or April; 72 pounds in May or 80 pounds in June. Active cooperation of the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department has been secured to assist in carrying out the plans of the club.

Data secured by Purdue shows that three-fourths of the Indiana lamb crop goes to market between July 1 and December 1, which is the period of the year when prices are the lowest.

"What we want to do is change this around," said F. G. King, Secretary of the Breeders' Association. "More of the Indiana lamb crop should go to market before July 1 and that is the main reason for promoting this contest. We also expect the contest to teach fundamentals of most profitable lamb production. The ultimate goal cannot be reached without practicing efficient methods of breeding, feeding and management. Claude Harper, sheep specialist at Purdue, will have active charge of the club."

The official rules of the Hoosier Gold Medal Sheep Club may be obtained by applying to F. G. King, Secretary of the Indiana Live Stock Breeders' Association, or Claude Harper, Lafayette, Indiana.

ASK FARMERS TO JOIN FARM BUREAU

In two weeks we will have a surprise for ourselves. Watch for it. It will mark a big step in the history of journalism in this country and make you proud you live here.

What is happening here is scheduled to happen in every other county in the United States within the next year. It is part of the Farm Bureau's drive for a million new members. The Farm Bureau is already the biggest organization of farmers in the world, but needs a hundred per cent increase in membership in order to do its most effective work. "We shall never be satisfied until every farmer in America is given an opportunity to join this movement," said J. R. Howard, the Iowa farmer who is president of the American Farm Bureau, when he launched the nation-wide drive.

"One farm family out of six wearing the Farm Bureau emblem is not enough," declared Secretary John W. Cloverdale. "No less than half of all the farm people of America will join the Farm Bureau when they understand what it will do for them."

"And we expect to give every one of them a personal invitation to come in," replied Charles E. Ginnels, who is the Director of Organization for national headquarters. "Farmers who understand this great movement will be organized to call on their neighbors and explain every phase of Farm Bureau work. Then they will invite him to sign up and bring with him the whole family—mother and children—into the County Farm Bureau, the State Farm Bureau, and the American Farm Bureau—three in one."

It has been suggested that we make a record for the state while we are at it. The suggestion has met with the hearty approval of the farmers who have talked it over, the county officials, the town business men who are interested in seeing the farmers organized and prosperous, and all who have a pride in seeing this country lead in everything it undertakes. The state record will not be made on total membership, but on the percentage of our farmers who sign up in the Farm Bureau campaign. All right! Lets go! as the auto-sticker said to the Farm Poster.

to identify them on the sheep's back. Then ewes that carry the lower grades of wool can be culled out of the flock and only sheep that produce the finer wools kept in the flock to raise lambs from.

An opportunity will be offered Rush county sheep raisers either in January or February to attend a demonstration where a man who knows wool grades will demonstrate how the different grades can be identified on the sheep's back. The plan is to hold at least two of these demonstration meetings, one in the northern part of the county and one in the southern.

It is suggested that those farmers who sold their wool through the pool should preserve their grading sheets and bring them along with them to the demonstration.

Give the man that stirs up strife on the farm good riddance before breakfast on the first day you find him out. There is no place for him on earth. Plenty of room in the earth; none on it.

Railroads Want to Encourage Residents to Visit International Live Stock Show at Chicago

IS UNUSUAL EXHIBITION

Action of Railroads is in Recognition of Long Record of Unselfish Service of Show

In order to encourage and enable residents in the sections served by their respective lines to visit the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago December 2nd and December 9th and be benefited by its numerous advantages, all railway companies operating trains into that city will offer special, low excursion rates to and from the coming show.

This world-famous annual gathering is recognized as the greatest of all agricultural exhibitions. The aristocracy of the improved breeds of live stock, the highest examples of the meat-producer's art and the finest specimens of the plant breeder's skill are there, all assembled in one stupendous aggregation to contest for supreme honors in the court of last resort. Nowhere else on the face of the globe can even the traveler with unlimited means and leisure witness a spectacle to compare with that placed within the grasp of practically every inhabitant of the United States and Canada.

The action of the railroads in granting special inducements to their patrons to enjoy the privilege of attending such an outstanding educational and recreational feast is in deserved recognition of its long record of effective, unselfish service in the cause of a more attractive and prosperous agriculture. Operated not for profit, it has the active support of all agencies interested in agrarian improvement, making it the most influential instrument for the advancement of the basic industry ever known. The fact that the federal and state agricultural department utilize it to place their teachings before the people gives it official standing.

Never has such an opportunity been offered the public to include so many outstanding attractions of both profit and amusement into one inexpensive jaunt as awaits the visitor to Chicago the first week in December. In view of the greatly reduced cost of making the journey to the metropolis at that time through the liberality of the carriers in granting special rates, it is anticipated that untold thousands who have been waiting just such a happy combination of circumstances to pay a long contemplated visit to the great central market will avail themselves of this unusual chance and join the vast merry throngs which will fill the halls of the International Live Stock Exposition from December 2nd to December 9th.

YOUTH EXHIBITED
CHAMPION BARROW

Terrence L. Hagen of Belview, Minn. Was Entrant in Junior Show at South St. Paul

GAINED TWO POUNDS PER DAY

Terrence L. Hagen, a lad living in the town of Belview, Redwood County, (Minn.), exhibited the champion barrow at the Junior Livestock Show, held at South St. Paul, last week. The barrow was a pure bred Poland China which weighed 450 pounds when shipped from Belview, and when sold at the Stock Yards, November 17, the official weight was 430 pounds. The barrow was farrowed March ninth this year. From May first to September twenty-fourth, he gained 297 pounds or better than two pounds per day.

The lad's records show that the barrow's cost of production was five cents per pound. J. T. McMillan Company, packers of St. Paul, bought it, paying sixty cents per pound. The packers' check amounted to $258.

The lad won a gold medal, silver medal, silver trophy, trip to the International Livestock Exposition and $80 in prizes.

The barrow was raised on a town lot, 50x50 feet, and later kept in the home garden. It was made champion over all breeds.

MARKETING MILL
FEEDS IMPORTANT

Availability of Feed Stuffs Locally Produced Important Factor Controlling Prices

U. S. EXPERT GIVES ADVICE

Careful Survey of Marketing Mill Feeds Contained in Department of Agriculture Bulletin

Are you paying too much for your feed stuffs? To determine this requires a knowledge of how feeds are sold by mills, market conditions, quality of the product, and methods of purchasing, says G. C. Wheeler, investigator in marketing feed, United States Department of Agriculture. Although feed stuffs constitute the second largest item of expense to American farmers, wheat feeds alone in 1920 representing a value of approximately $200,000,000, little is known by the average buyer about the marketing of this commodity, says Mr. Wheeler.

The availability of feed stuffs locally produced which may be used as substitutes, and potential supplies and production in surplus producing sections are said to be the most important factors controlling local feed prices. Wide variations in prices in heavy consuming and producing centers, and in sections where only moderate supplies are handled are attributed to the prices paid by individual dealers, unsold feed in transit which is frequently disposed of at a sacrifice on arrival, grade, quality, whether the feed is bought for cash or credit, and whether the purchase is for immediate or future delivery. Mr. Wheeler advises buyers to ascertain carefully all these facts in connection with prices quoted before placing orders.

Mr. Wheeler has made a careful study of the marketing of mill feeds and his findings are contained in United States Department of Agriculture Bulletin 1124, entitled "The Marketing of Mill Feeds." The bulletin tells how feeds are sold by mills, handled by cooperative societies, how to study market conditions, what to ascertain about prices quoted, and present needs of the trade. Trade rules, grades and feed stuffs laws are also discussed. Copies of Bulletin 1124 can be obtained free upon request to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

SMUGGLING DOPE BECOMES SCIENCE

Narcotic Inspectors Working Along Mexican Border Say Smugglers Have "Inspired Cleverness"

USED PLUGGED WATERMELONS

Agents Say Large Quantities Of Whiskey, Some High Grade, is Shipped in U. S. by Aeroplane

By JACK R. HORNADY (U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 21—Like bootlegging, the smuggling of narcotics has become a science.

Means of bringing "dope" into America for use by the nation's drug addicts are no longer slipshod, but at times indicate almost "inspired cleverness" on the part of the smugglers, according to narcotic inspectors working along the Mexican border.

Carrier pigeons, hollow crutches, spare automobile tires, "plugged" watermelons, and other such apparently innocent objects are being used by the great ring of smugglers, bound together by the ties of mutual protection, in bringing dope into the country.

John E. Wells, narcotic inspector here, who has recently worked along the border, outlined for the United Press some of the ramifications of the vast "dope" smuggling syndicate now engaged in illegally importing thousands of dollars worth of drugs every week.

Until federal agents caught them too often, run runners used the spare tire of their automobiles for bringing tequila over the border, according to Wells. But now dope smugglers have seized upon their plan, and have devised an unique method to prevent discovery. They will place a large quantity of dope in a hollow tube which they carry with compressed air inside of their inner tube. Inspectors, examining the tire, usually find their air in it, and the presence of the inner-inner tube remains a secret.

Another method is the "plugged" watermelon scheme. The meat of the melon is taken out and a rubber sack containing narcotics placed inside the rind. The trick was discovered when one of the dope runners dropped a melon.

Recently, an aged Mexican, so feeble that he walked with the aid of crutches made his way across the international bridge at El Paso. He was suspected and followed. When approached by officers, he seemed rejuvenated, for dropping his crutches he ran like a high school boy. Investigation revealed the crutches were hollow and contained a quantity of cocaine.

The latest method reported to narcotic inspectors is the use of carrier pigeons. The birds are slipped into Mexico where small packages are fastened to them. They are freed and return direct to their pens this side of the border, where the "shipment" is received.

Federal agents say that large quantities of whiskey, some of it of very high grade, are being shipped from Mexico to the United States by aeroplane. The whiskey is largely imported and much of it Scotch. The largest customers are said to be the oil camps, where money is always plentiful and where high prices are paid for the smuggled goods. A recent banquet in Kansas oil fields was recently reported to have been enlivened by several cases of champagne, brought from Mexico by plane.

Disorganized conditions across the Mexican border make an attempt to cope with the liquor smuggling from the other side impossible and owing to the many planes flying on the American side, Texas rangers and dry agents are unable to solve the problem from the American side.

The air field owned by Uncle Sam at the San Antonio Army base frequently fill the air with planes and many ranchers in that country of magnificent distance own and operate their own planes. It is virtually impossible to pick out the drug and liquor smuggling planes.

HEARING ON APPEAL HELD

Carthage Board And Paper Company Objects To Assessment

A hearing on an appeal by the Carthage Board and Paper Company to the state board of tax-commissioners for a reassessment of its plant at Carthage was conducted in the auditor's office before Nelson K. Todd, of Indianapolis, a representative of the commission. The company's case was presented by Will J. Henley of near Carthage, former judge of the Indiana appellate court.

The company's holdings were assessed this year by the county board of review at $341,815, as compared with an assessment of $377,000 last year, on which the company paid taxes this year. This represented a reduction of $35,185.

GONE TO HER REST

Clara Cassin Mercer

Clara M. Cassin was born near Richland, Rush County Indiana in March, 1872. In her twentieth year she was married to Wilson S. Mercer, of Milroy also of Rush county. This union was blessed by the birth of one daughter, Mildred Hazeldine, who passed from life at the age of two months.

She was brought up in the United Presbyterian Church; but after her marriage and settlement in Milroy, she became a member with her husband, of the Christian Church at that place. And she continued faithful to that profession till her death, Oct. 29, 1922. In her church work she was a zealous member of the Milroy Missionary Society, and could always be depended on for service that fell in her way.

A year or so ago, her health began to fail; and although her husband provided every means for her comfort and care, her ailment gradually grew worse until nature gave way and she had to give up.

She leaves a husband several circles of kindred and friends, and is sincerely mourned for by all. She is especially remembered as a model housekeeper, and her comfortable home will seem to the lone husband a very desolate place, for the want of her personality.

Farewell, Sister, you must leave us, Here where sorrow often reigns, You are free from things that grieve us,

From all earthly mortal pains, Yea, tho, sad, our ties to sever, Yours the richer firmer bond.

God and Christ are yours forever, In that happy home beyond. Yet, beyond our utmost knowing, Over on that blissful shore, Where the tree of life is growing, There to dwell forevermore.

GIRL NOW WELL AND STRONG

Daughter Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as Mother Advised

Wauseon, Ohio.—"My daughter always had backache and leg-ache at certain periods and could not be on her feet at those times. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing girls so much good so she began to take it. That is two years ago and she is a different girl since then able to do any work she wants to do—although she is still careful not to do heavy work—and so well and strong. We recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers with ailing daughters, and I give you permission to publish this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. A. M. BURKHOLDER, Route No. 2, Box 1, Wauseon, Ohio.

Something out of balance will affect the finest clock, causing it to gain or lose. The proper adjustment made, all is well. So it is with women. Some trouble may upset you completely.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct the cause of the trouble and disagreeable symptoms will disappear as they did in the case of Mrs. Burkholder's daughter.

MOTHERS—it is worthy of your confidence.

Drive On To Reduce Number of Flag Sizes Being Made

Washington, Nov. 21—Too many different sizes and qualities of American flags, waving from American flag poles, have irritated the efficient soul of the division of simplified practice of the department of commerce and a drive is now on to reduce the number of sizes manufactured to ten.

Calling in the association of flag manufacturers, the division suggested to it a survey to determine the best ten widths and lengths for the trade. When this survey is completed according to plans, its conclusions will run the gauntlet of the various government departments and the fine arts commission. The final step of the drive will probably be a suggestion to congress for legislation establishing standard sizes for the national emblem.

One manufacturer alone is at present producing flags in eighty-eight different sizes, in seventeen qualities, and from one to nine styles in each quality, the division states.

President Taft in 1912, established 12 authorized sizes. Pres. Wilson following Taft's lead, prescribed 12 sizes, but altered their dimensions somewhat. Despite these official decrees, manufacturers have continued to turn out innumerable qualities and sizes of flags, entirely different from those prescribed.

The division of simplified practice hopes that the result of the drive will bring the flag business back to normalcy.

ACTION AGAINST KLAN

Topeka, Kansas, Nov. 21.—Legal action to oust the Ku Klux Klan was to be taken in the state supreme court today on orders of Governor Henry

J. Allen. The action will be on the grounds that the Klan, a Georgia organization, is operating in Kansas without a charter.

Underwear Easy to Buy

When you buy children's underwear, you will choose R. A. as soon as you see it and feel its warm, durable fabric.

R. A. is cut to fit the bodies of children, without the usual binding or bunching.

The seat is extra full, the seams as strong as the fabric itself. The button holes are specially devised to keep the garment securely buttoned.

Unions, Shirts and pants and waist suits—all better than the best you have seen and will wear a year longer than ordinary underwear with careful washing.

The same superior quality is shown in all styles and sizes up to extra out sizes, in R. A. make for women. "And yet the price of R. A. is moderate."

Ask the salesgirl for R. A.—it will more than pay you in satisfaction.

Let Us Fix Up That Suit

A neat appearing suit doesn't necessarily mean that it is new.

Many a man who has come to us for a clean and press has been asked this very question, however.

More than that—one of our regular jobs is mending tears and places where the fabric has pulled apart, in such a manner that they cannot be seen. One man after another has received months of wear out of a suit of clothes he thought ready for the "old clothes man."

No matter how the condition, bring in that suit. Let us fix it, or press it, or both. We'll frankly tell you if it's beyond hope.

MESSAGES OF CONDOLENCE

Received From All Parts Of World
By Frank Bacon's Relatives

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Messages of condolence was received from all parts of the world today by relatives of Frank Bacon "Lightin' Bill"—who died Sunday.

Arrangements were completed for the memorial services which will be held at the Blackstone theatre—where he appeared for more than a year—at 11 a. m., tomorrow.

Judge K. M. Landis will deliver a brief eulogy.

TODAY IN MUSIC

Feodor Chaliapin, the famous Russian opera singer, has a most unique method of giving a recital. His recent one in New York was conducted along his usual lines. His program is never announced in advance. A printed booklet containing the titles of some seventy or eighty songs in Chaliapin's repertory is distributed to the audience and the singer then announces his selections by number. In this way, he may choose such songs as fit his mood. He made his first appearance in opera this season on the second night of the Metropolitan, singing the Czar in "Boris Godunoff".

Florence Easton will essay Geraldine Farrar's famous role of Carmen this season. As she is an American girl, it would seem that the role of the Spanish vamp is destined to fall into the hands of home grown products. Miss Easton is one of the Metropolitan's most capable and versatile sopranos.

Paderewski comes out of retirement at Carnegie Hall, New York, on the afternoon of November 22. This will be his first public appearance at the piano for more than five years and it is an event looked forward to with great interest. It is said that the former Premier of Poland will make a real "come-back" and display all of his old mastery over the keys.

With three permanent orchestras in the New York Symphony Philharmonic and City Symphony, together with visits from Boston and Philadelphia, New York's orchestral season is now opening and well under way. The City Symphony, founded by business men including Coleman duPont and Joseph Pulitzer, the journalist, for the purpose of bringing good music to the public at nominal prices, is the last to get under way, almost a month after the others have had their opening concerts.

Expiring copyrights are playing havoc with the classics of music, to the gain of writers of dance music. Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Hindu Chant" from "Sadko" was taken bodily and dressed up with saxophones and cow bells. Burleigh's beautiful song "Deep River" was taken practically intact, made a fox-trot and a jazz song, and the famous negro composer was not given credit on the sheet music. Now the jazz maestros have ravaged "Samson and Delilah" for the latest fox-trot hit. Perhaps that's what is meant by "bringing opera to the masses."

THREE HURT SERIOUSLY

Morristown, Ind., Nov. 20.—William McKinley, his wife and daughter, of Brown county, were injured seriously Saturday, at Fountain-town, when the machine driven by Mr. McKinley collided with a car driven by an Indianapolis party. The McKinley machine was turned over and the second car only slightly damaged.

MISSED BY ONE VOTE

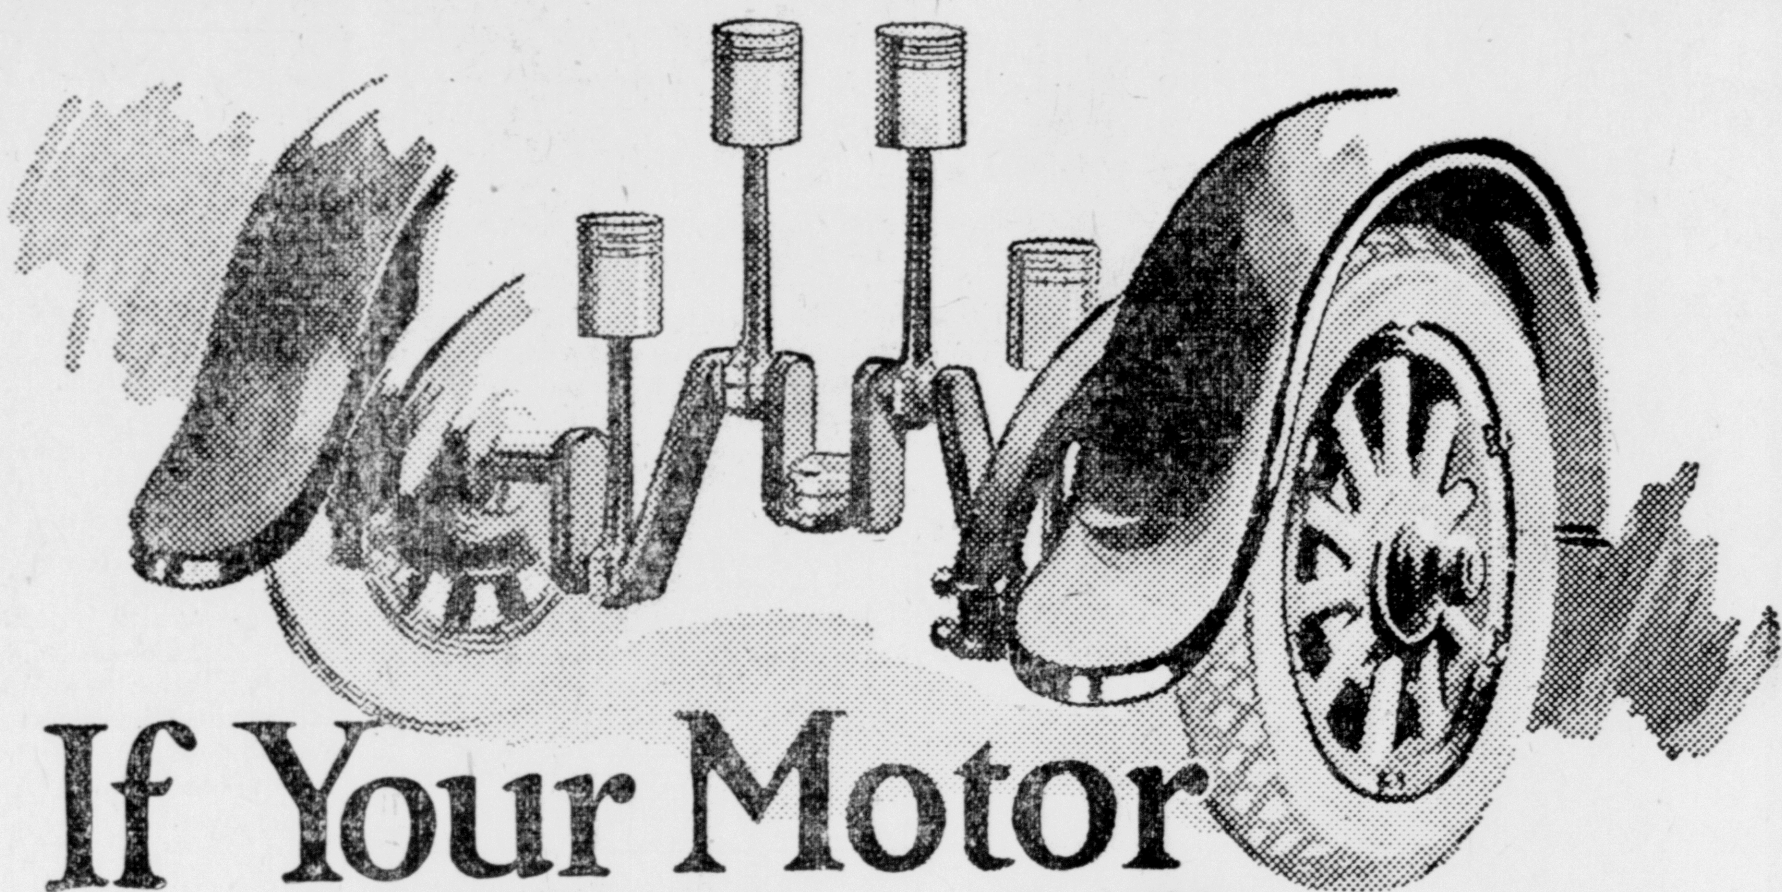

Columbus, Ind., Nov. 20.—Charles Boyer, of Clay township, running for trustee missed being elected by one vote when John Morgan died.

Morgan had cast his ballot as an absent voter. But he died one hour too early, at five o'clock election morning, and his ballot was thrown out when it was reported he was dead.

FIRST VOTE AT 97 YEARS

Claypool, Ind., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Jane Mitchell, living near Claypool, who on June 1, 1922 attained the age of 97 years, cast her first vote at the recent election. Minding one's own business is given by Mrs. Mitchell as a rule that will add many years to the life of the average person.

New York.—"Religion began with the dance, and we cannot have a religious revival unless we turn to the dance for assistance", Dr. William Norman Guthrie, rector of St. Marks in the Bowery declared.

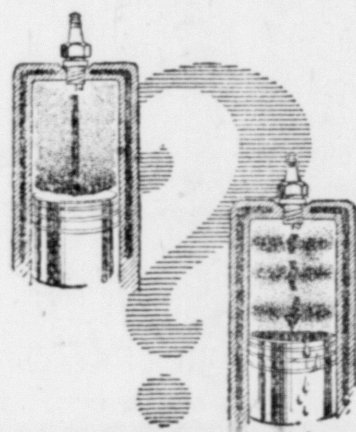

If Your Motor Worked Direct

NO CLUTCH—no transmission—no propeller nor universals—no differential! Wouldn't it be fine business if the power impulse of your fuel could be applied direct to the wheels without slack or lost motion?

But cars won't work that way. The power line is broken by innumerable joints and working surfaces, all the way from the wristpins in the motor to the give-and-take of the rubber in your tires.

Which Explosion would you buy for power, mileage and motor safety—

This full-rounded straight-line thrust of Real Gasoline—

Or this sulky, gappy, kerosene-dripping, half-explosiveness of skimpy "cracked" substitutes?

An outright miss or the staggy, incomplete explosion of poor motor fuel must pound its way through a dozen or more of these points of play—each one of which adds its fraction of shock until the supposed power-flow chatters out in a rain of disconnected impacts.

No car in the world can survive a steady diet of such treatment.

SILVER FLASH GASOLINE does not start this destructive chain. With proper ignition, its explosion must be full, rounded, smooth. There are no breaks or internal gaps to be magnified into crushing blows as they progress along the power line.

Its consistent use means the highest type of long-run, best-in-the-end conservation—and its protection is not limited to the motor itself, but extends to every moving part of your car.

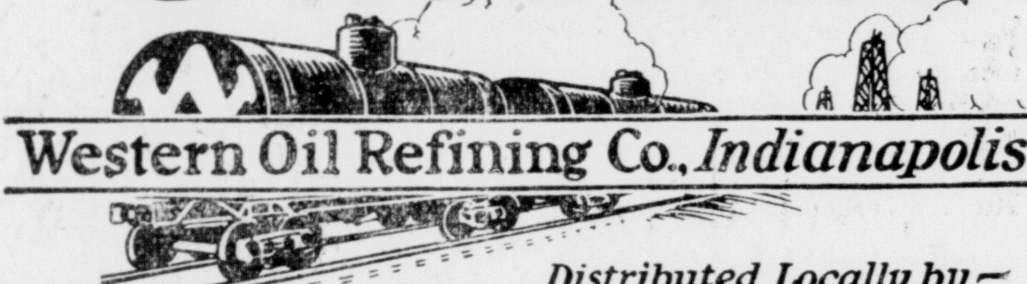

Its clean, pleasant running, its freedom from carbon and the absence of oil-destroying kerosene, are just so many extra reasons for its choice.

WANTS DETENTION HOME

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 21.—A bill providing for the erection of a state detention home for persons awaiting judgment as to their mental condition, will be introduced in the January session of the legislature by Representative Ralph Updyke, he said today. In many instances, Updyke said, insane persons are held in county jails with criminals while awaiting judgment
